

R&D of radar technology for advanced recognition of moving objects to enhance security

In subways, airport lobbies and large-scale customer collection facilities where unspecified number of people gather, security is comparatively relaxed, we will achieve safety to recognize suspicious persons by signal processing various sensor data without stopping the flow of people.

